Gang-

Apparently the gentle nudge and suggestion approach to the issue of improving the quality of posts to the BoatAnchors list, and maintaining our excellent (and high) signal to noise ratio is falling on DEAF EYES!

PLEASE READ THIS AND SAVE IT BECAUSE IT IS IMPORTANT!!!

The list culture is to include only those portions of a prior post that are required to maintain the context of your comments. We have always tried to reduce the amount of "chaf" on the list, and this is one good way.

In private mail between you, a subscriber, and me, as list manager, I really don't care one way or the other, but when posting to the list, there are at least two issues of concern:

- 1) the increased bandwidth from including extra text.
With the trial subscriptions and full members, the number of copies of each post mailed out change the impact of each extra word so that each single character becomes 1,000 characters of mail!
- 2) by not editing out included text, it sends a not at all subtle message to the list, that the poster considers his/her own time required to merely swipe his mouse across the text and tap the delete key, to be more valuable than the collective time and energy of the 600-700 readers on the list... not exactly a "positive" message! ;^)

This isn't rocket science... you place the pointer at the top of the message you are including parts of, and click-drag to where you need to include, and then hit the backspace or delete key... painless, easy, quick, and very helpful to the list.

PLEASE begin to pay attention to this... those who consistently can not be bothered to be considerate of the list will forfeit posting privileges and risk not being invited back for membership.

Treat the list as a symposium. In such an environment, with 600 others attending who have paid to be there, it is unlikely you would repeat someone else's portion of a conversation in its entirety as part of your own remarks... it would become very tedious, very quickly, if you did... especially if you repeated even the closing signature block of the previous message.

Thanks for your understanding and help in making the boatanchors list have the highest signal to noise on the InterNet.

Can anyone tell me what thread the screws are that are used to hold the ARC-5 covers on? I suspect they might be #2-56.

Mike,

The screws that attach the bottom and top covers, as well as those that mount the capacitors, relays and transformers through the front, side and rear of the chassis are #3-48 UNC Binding Head Machine Screw in various lengths.
Material is brass and finish is known as black oxide.

I lost the name of the person looking for info on Heath A-7 amplifier. I found my manual and if you still need the info contact me, one way or the other.

I can scan the info (not recommended) or make copies at a copy store ( recommended)

My scanner skills are still in their infancy.

I have for sale a KWM-380 as close to Mint as you can get. It is S/N 6XX comes with 2 operators manual, Service manual with copies of all service bulletins complied with, SM-230 mike, fan kit, one RTTY filter, extra audio board, original shipping boxes, keyboard, extra keypad and I think there are a couple of extra parts (box is at my shop).

This unit is clean, no scratches, dents, dings and operates to spec's. I would prefer pickup in Northridge, CA but will ship worldwide as I am in the professional shipping business.

The price is $3500.00 firm plus shipping/insurance.

Wayne Spring K6IRD will install the Kiron board and check it out for $200.00 which I will deliver to him at no charge.

Will accept Paypal plus 3.5% surcharge, pickup cash or certified funds.

Thanks,
Hank

Groups,

This is prompted by several recent posts to various of these lists. I'll probably get two or three hate emails from that 1% minority of list members making high five and six figure 21st Century salaries who hate eBay because they think they should still be able to buy radios for what they would have paid 45-60 years ago when they were making mid-20th Century salaries. But...

I suggest the following when mentioning an eBay item that might be of general interest to the subscribers of any of these lists. Just post the item number, not the URL or link. The various list servers tend to butcher the link anyway, and if they don't, many email handlers do. 99% of those who would bother to go and look have eBay's link in their browser's Favorites list. The default field that comes up on eBay's home page is the simple search field. If you copy the item number from the incoming email and past it in there, you will get to the item 100% of the time. And over the long haul, in the minimum number of mouse clicks.

Once again, I am trying to get together a California trip for the mil radio show at SLO. The van has been behaving lately, so I will give it a go.

So again, anyone need heavy (600 poounds, maybe more) things moved from New York to California (Bay Area and LA), with reasonable stops between? Cheap rates! I need gas money!

Let me know soon - space is limitted. Space on the return is probably not an option this year.

Well.. Outlook Express managed to munge it up here so it wouldn't work...
(no surprises there huh? :-)

I can't think of any reason at all to post eBay links here.
I'm a big boy now, and know how to check eBay myself for items of interest.
Junk posts (junk mail) just clog up my mailbox, and use valuable download time.

I'll get hate mail from those who will say "Just use your delete key", but I don't like to have to download all this stuff first just to delete it.
I particularly dislike self-posting eBay items ("Hey, gang, look what I just listed on eBay!"), just as I dislike self-posting on DX clusters.

Please just don't post it in the first place.

I accept completely those 'for sale' posts made directly to this list, or passed on as the recent Drake items were. Most of us would not know of those BAs otherwise.

Respectfully submitted,
VE7XF

Gang-

Here are the real basics of how to keep me happy, the list noise-free, and everyone able to enjoy BoatAnchors... Simple, easy, workable...

Do not send SPAM-type e-mail messages to the list.

Do not send attachments (attached files) of ANY sort to the list. This includes HTML shortcuts, v-cards, GEDCOM files, zipped files, and ANY other type of attachment.

Do not EVER forward virus warnings (which are 99%hoaxes) or send chain letters to the list.

Do not use HTML or RTF (rich text format) in messages sent to the list.

DO keep e-mail messages to the list on topic and appropriate.

Do not post commercial messages.

Please refrain from posting "Ebay" type auction notices. Refrain from "seen on EBAY" posts...

DO be polite.

Do not flame other members of the list.

DO be considerate of the list members and list resources.

DO have fun!
